

Central and South American Museum

When you go to a museum they have tons of interesting things to see, hear, and do. We are going to create a museum about Central and South America. Each student team will be responsible for creating a museum exhibit on their chosen topic.

So... what do you need for your exhibit? A museum exhibit typically has four parts:

1. Written information
2. Pictures
3. Artifacts (actual things from that person or battle)
4. Interactive learning experience

Your exhibit should include all of these four parts. You will need to research your country and find information that people should know about it. You will also need to find pictures, create an interactive experience, and create artifacts to make your exhibit eye-catching and interesting! Here is your chance to get creative!

Project due on: _____

Grading chart:

Requirements	Points Poss.	Points Earned
Research (Cornell notes)	25
Written Information (should be clear, accurate, complete)	25
Pictures (are purposefully chosen)	10
Artifacts (enhance the exhibit)	10
Interactive learning experience (enhances the exhibit)	10
Interview (student can tell what they learned)	10
Creativity/Presentation (neatness, overall look)	10
Total Points	100

